

SEEMA KILACHAND

Her take on luxury is cordon bleu.

A lady with a discerning eye she understands the true essence of an indulgent life. Royal Fables in conversation with luxury consultant, Seema Kilachand.

RF Can you tell us a little about yourself and the work you do as a luxury consultant?

Seema I have been working in this industry for the past 15 years! Promoting luxury and beyond luxury. The few brands that I have associated with are Scicis, an Italian mosaic company, Grant Thornton, an international law and chartered accountancy firm, YPO, Young President's Organization etcI have also consulted couturier Rina Dhaka and wellness entrepreneur Vandana Luthra for VLCC.

RF What does luxury mean to you?

Seema Luxury means excellence and the touch and feel of something that is beyond the ordinary. Luxury is a developed taste of enjoying the finest of products, places, culinary holidays & travel. A touch above the regular.

RF Indian Royalty is probably one of the biggest custodians of luxury and art. Your take on this? Seema Indian Royals have lived in the lap of luxury. They kn ow how to recognize and enjoy the finer things in life. Though they live in lavish palaces it is not opulence but a touch of heritage that epitomizes their lifestyle.

RF And what according to you is Royal Fables?

Seema Royal Fables to me is bringing back an era which is so rich in its tradition! Combining royalty and tradition is what Royal Fables is all about. To bring both together on one platform is a big achievement!

Hospital Guide Foundation (HGF) is a NGO which is founded by Indiritta Singh D'mello an Oxford graduate who is the grand daughter of Raja Pratap Singh of Kuchaman and daughter of Rajkumari Priti Pratap Singh one of the last descendants of Mira Bai. Her father Late Rudolf D'mello an Oxford graduate himself was an ambassador to Cuba and a politician who was actively involved in the freedom movement of Goa. HGF's vision is to revolutionize health care in India. It is a free service that does not charge its members nor does it have any commercial transaction with suggested healthcare providers/ Doctors, hence ensuring unbiased suggestions. Driven by three core values Ethics, Competence and Compassion, HGF's current core service is providing healthcare solutions by referring members to Doctors. HGF affiliates itself with practitioners after doing a reference check. Every request is studied and evaluated before suggestions are given. This also involves deciphering the specialty the patient needs to be referred to from the many super specialties that are proliferating. With overlaps in super specialties sometimes it is even difficult for Doctors to suggest the correct specialty the patient should be referred to. This methodology gives the patient a better chance for the initial diagnosis to be correct and to seek good advise. Currently, HGF has more than 700 Doctors on there database and are serving Delhi, Mumbai and Bangalore. HGF does not address emergencies. Hospital Guide Foundation's advisory team has people like Dr. (Prof.) Ranjit Roy Chaudhury, who was conferred the Life time achievement award in healthcare by FICCI in Septembe, 2013 .For more details on our Advisory Board, Specialists Committee, Patient testimonials & media coverage please visit our website www.hospitalguide.in

"We thank hospital guide foundation from the bottom of our heart for all the help and guidance provided to us. You took a very very important decision regarding our child that will help him go a long long way else we were unaware of such kind of therapy available. We appreciate the work hospital guide is doing to help people like us. Great work hats off to "Hospital Guide Foundation"
